

Congrats to Exsila: 20'000 members in one year!

Congrats to the 20'000 members!

I am one of them (since September 2006) and a very happy one, too. My experiences:

I've swapped 54 items so far.

I've eliminated all my teenager CDs and invested the money in cool DVDs (mainly 24, Lost, Sopranos, O.C. California).

I didn't swap any books. I'm afraid of the high postal charges.

I couldn't swap some of my very old games and CDs due to weird barcodes that Exsila didn't recognize.

I've recommended the service to like a million people, although there are some very important features missing and the pace of implementing new features isn't very fast. But in the end this doesn't matter as long as the service works perfectly fine and the atmosphere in the community is awesome.

I still cannot believe that Exsila didn't internationalize, especially after they've received funding. With such a success solely in Switzerland there would be a phenomenal potential worldwide.
